

Casual Portrait, Lifestyle, and Informal Event Photography for 2009
(1/09)

You've seen formal studio portraits – yes, they are usually well-done and clean, but they rarely capture who you and your family really are. They don't communicate your interests, or show how you relax with your friends and family. When your great-grandchildren look at your photos, will they see any clues to tell them about what makes you and your family tick?

Edward Hahn is excited to offer casual portrait, lifestyle, and informal event photography that captures you and your family with some character! Instead of an anonymous studio, he'll come to where the action is – your family room, backyard, sports field...where ever is your favorite place for enjoyment or relaxation.

Do you want a portrait in a relaxed environment to share with friends and relatives? Ed can capture an individual, couple, kids, or the whole family with a traditional pose. You can dress up or keep things casual as you desire, and can even change outfits.

Or, if you want to capture what your family's passions are – rock climbing, biking, softball, or just playing in the backyard – Ed will come to you, and capture your family in the middle of the action!
